from their large farm near Greenfield, 65 miles away to attend the reunion with about 25 others at Memorial park. Mrs. Simmons prepared the family picnic basket before leaving home.

"At lunch Virginia and Alice Jean had consumed a sandwich each and their father, Carr, and Jackson each had eaten part of one, when a white capsule dropped from a wrapper. About the same time, the girls became ill. A physician at the picnic looked once at the capsule and said "strychnine."

The girls, both in convulsions, were rushed to hospitals. Both died within a short time. The two men and Carr suffered similarly and it was feared they could not recover.

Sheriff Groce Small, Police Chief Ed Casey and Coroner G. A. O'waley took charge of the investigation. They found that the white capsules had been placed in about a dozen sandwiches in the Simmons basket.

Calvin Coolidge Says . . . . .

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 22.—The centralization of power in Washington which nearly all members of congress deplore in their speech and then support by their votes steadily increases. The latest report is that the federal employment service will have a bureau in every state and the District of Columbia. The farmer who was the shining example of sturdy independence has entrusted the government with finding him a market. Now the wage earner is to look to the same source to find employment. Individual self reliance is disappearing and local self government is being undermined.

A revolution is taking place which will leave the people dependent upon the government and place the government where it must decide questions that are far better left to the people to decide for themselves. Finding markets will develop into fixing prices and finding employment will develop into fixing wages. The next step will be to furnish markets and employment or in default pay a bounty and a dole. Those who look with apprehension on these tendencies do not lack humanity but are influenced by the belief that the result of such measures will be to deprive people of character and liberty.

FIVE ACRES BURN AT IRVINE PARK

MORATORIUM FOR YEARS IS UNWELCOME

was considered significant in light of unofficial reports of French reaction to the plan. There are indications of French reluctance to co-operate in a program which would cost the United States most and France next.

Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, came to the state department after the press conference to discuss the proposed suspension with Stimson and Under-Secretary Castle; the American officials withheld comment.

Paul Claudel, French ambassador, is expected at the state department later in the day.

While Stimson at the state department was emphasizing that Mr. Hoover's remedy depended for its success upon speedy application, it was being revealed at the White House that the president inaugurated his project June 5, five days after the beginning of a momentous run on gold reserves of the Reichsbank in Berlin.

Financial advisers, cabinet officers and diplomats have co-operated with Mr. Hoover in the past fortnight in bringing the project to the stage reached Saturday evening when the president started the world with his moratorium pronouncement.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, and Under-Secretary of the Treasury Mills met with Mr. Hoover at the White House on June 5.

The official version of developments of the project as related today, indicates Mr. Hoover at that time suggested to these three that the plan as announced Saturday apparently would be necessary. His suggestion was identical, it was said today, with the formal announcement issued by the White House.

Mellon was preparing then to leave for Europe. So was Stimson. It apparently appeared advisable to keep the secretary of state in Washington and Stimson changed his sailing plans. But Mr. Hoover asked Mellon to inquire into European conditions.

Press reports from abroad at that time depicted Germany on the way toward political and perhaps social upheaval. There were intimations in the foreign press that the United States was refusing to concede the seriousness of the situation developing on the continent; Mr. Hoover also asked departments of the government to make a quick survey of world conditions.

It was said at the White House today that all this transpired before the Chequers conversations between German and British cabinet members in which the German financial plight was laid before Prime Minister MacDonald.

Mr. Hoover appealed for information directly to President Von Hindenburg of Germany. Sunday morning Hindenburg's reply reached the White House, but Mr. Hoover already had acted. Results of the departmental investigations and Mellon's inquiry abroad had convinced the President it was time to act.

The President began his series of daily conferences June 5. They were continued on his middle western speaking tour. The White House long distance phone bill went up and up and up.

Mr. Hoover was getting in touch with congressional leaders throughout the country to obtain in advance their sanction to a program which ultimately must be passed on by congress. Time was the important element and it was considered impossible to delay remedial measures until December, when Congress next will be in session. While absent in the middle west, Mr. Hoover kept in touch by telephone conversations with White House aides.

Mr. Hoover was pictured today as determined from the beginning that any action taken must be on a non-partisan basis. For that reason as soon as he received information corroborating his view of the situation, he began conferences with Democratic leaders. The president considers their reportedly unanimous acceptance of his proposal as a patriotic attitude.

The president is said to be very much gratified by the response he has received, and especially by the effect the proposal is said to have had on commodity markets, all of which are said to show returning confidence.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

It is incumbent upon you to define the major objective of our life. Put it into your own words, but see to it that you know quite clearly what it is that you are trying to attain. All too many people are vaguely yearning for some great good to come to flower in their lives; but, because they do not clearly know what they are trying to accomplish, they make small progress and are constantly dissatisfied with whatever they seem to make.
If your sovereign loyalty is to something high and fine, the great sorrow which has come to you will not divert you from your allegiance; indeed, terrible as your burden now appears, your high purpose will be the source of your strength and inspiration as you fit yourself for the reunion God has promised.

GUN ENDS LIFE OF MRS. MABEL E. LIPPINCOTT

Despondency as a result of poor health is believed to have been the cause for the suicide of Mrs. Mabel E. Lippincott, 42, of 340 Custer street, wife of Night Jailor R. D. Lippincott, at her home yesterday morning.

Mrs. Lippincott shot herself through the heart with a .45 caliber pistol. Death was instantaneous. Her husband and 16-year-old daughter were in the front yard of the home at the time. They rushed into the house and found their wife and mother lying on the floor. The gun had fallen on a daybed nearby.

No inquest into the death will be held. Coroner Brown stated that he had issued a certificate following an investigation and report made by the sheriff's office. The body was taken to the Smith and Thill's funeral parlors, where funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday. Burial will be made in San Bernardino.

Lippincott had been night jailer here since Sheriff Logan Jackson took office on January 1. He formerly lived at Laguna Beach, where he was at one time a member of the city council. Mrs. Lippincott had not been well during recent months and her act is believed to have been caused because of her physical condition.

TRIAL OF DAMAGE SUIT UNDER WAY

Damages of $51,600 which are claimed from Ralph Lee, et al, by Marion Holloway, are at issue today in trial of the case before Judge H. G. Ames in the Orange county superior court.

The suit grew out of a head-on collision on the coast highway about nine miles north of San Clemente on October 9, 1930, when Holloway was a guest in the car operated by Lee. Holloway charges that Lee operated the car in a grossly negligent manner and wilfully mismanaged it, causing the crash. He also alleges that Lee was intoxicated at the time of the accident.

Injuries suffered by the plaintiff include basal fracture of the skull, fractured knee cap, fractured ribs, deafness of the left ear, and other hurts. He asks $50,000 personal damages, $400 hospital and medical bills and $1200 for loss of income.

Lee sets up as his defense the assertion that the accident was unavoidable and that Holloway was guilty of contributory negligence in failing to warn him of the impending accident.

Corbin Appeals From Conviction On Theft Charge

Ordered to San Quentin for a term of from one to 10 years as a result of his recent jury conviction on a charge of grand theft, Claude Corbin today filed a notice of appeal after Judge H. G. Ames had denied a motion for a new trial and sentenced the prisoner to the state prison.

Corbin, it was alleged during the trial which resulted in his conviction, appropriated shares of corporate stock valued at approximately $3600, in some dealings he had with Martin Hays, a civil war veteran. After his conviction by the jury he filed a petition for probation, but withdrew the petition last Friday at the time set for hearing on the matter and filed a motion for a new trial.

The court permitted his release under $5000 bail pending the hearing on the appeal, which will be made to the fourth district court of appeals. Judge Ames today signed a certificate of probable cause which is required in connection with such appeals.

MAYBE WILL ROGERS COULD GET SOME FUN OUT OF THIS

It Will Rogers were writing this, he undoubtedly could think of some smart crack connecting the three facts that yesterday was Father's Day and also the longest day of the year and that today is the hottest day, to date, for the summer season. Looks like there should be some connection.

Of course every day is the longest day in the year to father and each day is plenty hot—just about the average daily dose of business attends to that—but it does seem strange that these three events should occur together.

Actually yesterday was the longest day of the year when old Mother Earth shifted gears and went from the second gear of balmy spring weather, into the high of summer heat. The fact that the same day was selected as Father's day had no connection than that a lot of people with nothing else to do decided that Poor Old Dad should have a day entirely all his own.

Of course the fact that yesterday was Father's day did not mean that Dad would be able

REALTORS SPONSOR APPRAISAL COURSE

With the realization that the period of inflated real estate values has passed, the Santa Ana Realty board, co-operating with the State Realty association, has planned an educational program on property appraisal that will start June 30 and continue for approximately three months.

The purpose of these meetings, which will be held at Ketter's cafe each Tuesday night starting at 6:30 o'clock, is to establish the basis for appraising property today and will be open to all realty board members of the twelfth district and any one else who wishes to attend.

Leading the list of speakers already secured for these meetings are: Dr. McCormick, Chicago; Thomas F. # MUSICIAN DIES AFTER SHOT IN CARBON CANYON

Hobart Kennedy, 29, living at 72 Granada avenue, Long Beach, was dead today from a gunshot wound inflicted yesterday either accidentally or with suicidal intent at a cabin in Carbon canyon yesterday afternoon.

Kennedy, a musician, stepped out on the porch of the cabin where he was staying for the day while his wife and several friends were in the house. Hearing his body fall on the porch the friends rushed out to find him dying with a bullet through his head.

It was reported by his friends that Kennedy had been using the gun for target practice earlier in the day near the cabin, and it is considered possible that the shot wound was inflicted accidentally. It is not known definitely whether or not the shot was intentional.

Kennedy's wife and sister, Mrs. Josephine Powers, survive. The body was taken to the J. E. Seale undertaking establishment in Fullerton, where an inquest will be conducted by Coroner C. D. Brown at 4 p. m. today. Investigation of the shooting is being made by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey and M. F. Dean.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

B. & P. W. CLUB MEMBERS MEET AT BREAKFAST

Breakfasting at 7 o'clock instead of lunching together at noon, varied the week's affairs for Business and Professional Women's club members who assembled early this morning in Ketter's cafe.

Approximately 30 members were out for the session, and seemed to enter into the opening routine with a new zest. This was shared by several visitors including Miss Eleanor Pettitt, of New York, Miss Esther Coffman, Mrs. Nye Martin and her young son, Nye Jr., Mrs. Eva Wyckoff and her niece, Irene Wyckoff.

The two youngsters, Irene and Nye, presented the program. Nye Martin opened the entertainment with his songs, for which his mother played the accompaniments. Such numbers as "Painting the Clouds With Sunshine," "Smile," "On the Bum Again," and "Wonderful Mother of Mine," were his contributions.

"A Visit to the City" by Walter Ben Hare, "In the Dentist's Office," and "The Menagerie Diet" were Miss Irene's contribution to the program.

Two new members were presented, Miss Artie Cleveland and Miss Mary E. Garland. Miss Alma Sweet, club president, called attention to the illness of two prominent club members, Miss Mabel Wiseman, slowly recovering from injuries received several months ago in a fall, and Miss Juanita Snyder, who is recuperating from illness in the home of a sister in Costa Mesa.

Miss Ethel Coffman, chairman of the June committee, announced that next week's meeting would be the usual mid-day luncheon in Ketter's cafe.

During these outings the resort was in charge of six counselors including a trained nurse and in addition to hikes and other outdoor diversions offered courses in reading, nature study and religious training.

With the completion of the junior high school camps the resort will be opened to various girls' clubs, groups of business and professional women and, later in the year, groups of high school girls. Reservations for the camp are booked at the Y. W. C. A. office in this city.

WORKMEN ERECT BIG TABERNACLE

A force of 70 volunteer workmen is busy today erecting the tabernacle for the John Brown evangelical meetings on South Broadway and it is expected that the large structure will be finished by tomorrow evening.

The material for the building was moved from Anaheim last Friday by a fleet of 14 trucks, furnished by the various lumber companies of Santa Ana.

A special committee of women served the volunteer workers with lunch today at the First Christian church and the men will be fed again tomorrow noon by the same committee.

More than 500 committee men and women have been appointed to look after various phases of the meetings, which are scheduled to open in Santa Ana on July 12. There was an attendance of nearly 200 at the general committee meeting held in the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church yesterday afternoon in connection with plans for the meetings. It was announced today by officers of the movement. Another organization meeting will be held at the Spurgeon church at 3 p. m. next Sunday.

EX-SHERIFF SAYS REFORMS AT WHITTIER SCHOOL WILL HELP BOYS LIVING THERE

Here is the eighth of the series of articles on the Rolph spoils system in California and which is being printed daily in the Los Angeles Record and reproduced in The Register—(Editor).

Good food and plenty of it. Milk with cream on it. Kind treatment—no guard will dare lay a hand on a boy!

Each boy a master of a trade. The above are features of the "reform" program which Claude S. Smith, former sheriff of Jasper county, Texas, will try to put over while he is superintendent of the Whittier state school.

Stresses Food
Smith, one of the most important of the Rolph appointees to state institutional jobs, laid great stress on the importance of food in a cordial interview with a Record representative.

"When I came in here," he said, "the kitchen was a filthy, nasty outshed. . . . We are cleaning things up. We are putting women in here to teach the boys how to eat."

Smith complained that during the preceding regime food that should have gone to the boys was used for elaborate banquets staged at Whittier for the entertainment of prominent citizens of the Southland.

"There'll be none of that while I'm here," he said. "The boys are going to get all that is coming to them."

Frequent Criticism
Smith's comment was in line with criticisms voiced in other quarters that the Whittier state school diet for the boys—although not the staff—had been lacking in proteins, meats, milk, butter and was over-heavy in starchy vegetables and bulk foods.

The new superintendent, however, steered clear of diet details.

"Do you know what I am trying to do?" he confided in his genial manner. "I am trying to get back to the Fred Nellis idea—do away with those 90-minute periods, change it all around and have it like Nellis had it, with a half day for books and a half day for the trades."

Misses Question
"What do you think of the educational value of vocational training?" Superintendent Smith was asked. He did not understand the question and when it was restated in a different manner was still unable to answer.

His idea of a machine shop, he said, was that it was a place for "constructive work" not a place to let a boy "pass the time."

"My idea," he said, "is to make men out of these boys—teach them trades so that they can go out in the world and take jobs. My idea is to let a boy pick his own trade, and then try to hold him on this trade."

Good treatment, good food, kindness—this, Smith said, was the way to fight the "runaway" spirit in the boys.

Trusts Boys
"I venture to say," he went on, "that I can take every guard off the place, because the boys don't want to run away. The boys tell me they like to stay here now because they get good food."

"The boys will tell you or any body else that it's more like home here now. They are treated kind—kind but firm."

The new superintendent said that he became interested in boys while he was sheriff of Jasper county, Texas.

"In my seven years as sheriff," he explained, "I never sent a boy away to a penitentiary or reform school. I'd take hold of him myself. After a few days I'd send him home—of course conditions were different there."

Seek Good Homes
"It will be our aim here to put boys into good homes and get them jobs. We are not going to put any boy into a home where he cannot make money. Every 10 days or two weeks we'll talk with him and keep his spirit up."

"My idea is to work with the boys' parents and guardians—work up a friendship between the homes they are going to and myself. I am trying to meet the mothers and fathers and talk to them and give them some sort of idea of how to handle the boys."

No employee at Whittier will be allowed to strike a boy, Superintendent Smith said. He was against corporal punishment. He could straighten out any boy, he explained, by giving him a "good talking to."

Smith confessed that he was not at all afraid of his new job.

"It is not a big job," he said. "It is an easy job after you get it organized. Get the employees to work with the boys and it will almost run itself."

Tuesday the final story on Whittier state school.

NEW SUIT FILED OVER CAR CRASH

A second damage action asking a total of $46,000 has been filed against Duce Siracusa, 14, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Siracusa, as a result of an auto crash June 6 at Myers road and Bouchard street, in which young Siracusa was driver of one of the cars involved. The second suit was filed in superior court by Sarah Louise Plant.

The first was filed recently by Nevan A. Helfrich, who asked the court for $50,385 in remuneration of injuries he suffered.

Injuries suffered by the second plaintiff include fracture of both sides of the brain and numerous contusions and lacerations. Both plaintiffs were passengers in a car driven by Bryone Plant, and assert that the crash was due to the negligence and carelessness of the defendants.

'BLACK WIDOW' IS DESCRIBED IN BULLETIN

The description of the "black widow" spider carried in the Register recently was partially incorrect, according to a statement made today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer. The spider was described as having three large spots on the under side of the abdomen, while a state health department bulletin describes the venomous insect as follows:

"This spider, found in the lower part of the United States, has various nicknames and is probably the only poisonous species in this country. It is called the "black widow," "shoe button," and "hour glass" spider. It obtains the name of "black widow" from its cannibalistic custom of eating its own mate. The name "hour glass" is derived from a bright red patch on the under side of its abdomen that resembles an hour glass. It is called "shoe button" spider because of the shape of the black shiny abdomen. This spider builds its web, which is coarse and irregular, in dimly lighted places where it is not liable to be disturbed. It is occasionally found under stones or pieces of wood but is more often found in corners, rafters and under the floor of sheds, barns and similar buildings. The female is always responsible for bites in all cases that have been reported to the state health department. The body is often a half inch long and the shiny black legs may stretch over a spread of two inches. The body is brilliantly marked with red or yellow or both colored markings. The markings may vary greatly but the hour glass symbol is most constant.

'MY SOUL AND MY SAVIOUR' IS FRIENDS TOPIC

EL MODENA, June 22. — The Rev. Joseph G. Reece was in charge of the morning service at the Friends church yesterday and sang "Nothing Between My Soul and My Saviour" as a part of the sermon. The morning lesson was found in Acts 4:1-14, 24-27. The Rev. Mr. Reece said in part:

"And as they spoke unto the people, the priests, and the captain of the temple, and the Sadducees, came upon them, being grieved that they taught the people, and preached through Jesus the resurrection of the dead. The disciples had spent hours of fellowship with Him; when He was brought before Pilate and the chief priests, Peter swore that he had never known Jesus, and had so conducted himself, that they had said, He surely is not one who follows Jesus."

But when the word was brought by the women that Christ had risen from the dead, Peter ran, and was the first at the tomb. Before that resurrection, Peter had not been sure of his love for Jesus; but now let him give up the world, but after the resurrection, he had realized that Christ was God. When He said, "As ye see me go, so shall I return; but wait ye until ye be endued with power from on high."

"Here in this chapter, they had been doing many wonderful things for God. A man of power and of mysticism, a sorcerer, had seen their wonderful works, and felt in his own heart that he wanted that power and he wished to buy that power with money, but the power of God can never be gained in that way. A group of these disciples had gathered here before a criticizing world, and they asked one question; and back of that one question there was a lame man. Through the power of the Holy Spirit, Peter had healed him. "And it came to pass on the morrow," that as many as were of the kindred of the high priest, asked by what power, and in what name ye have done this?"

Friends, have we had people stand down certain things? Bring it right down to the human standard and abilities, and leaving out God and His supernatural power. His power to help you and I. "The men of the church were asking these illiterate men in whose power they did these things."

Friends, I plead that you and I might pay the price, as Peter and John had paid the price. If we pay the price, the world will marvel, they say you can't live the Christian life, without sin, and we confess, we can't live in our own strength, but we can say with Paul, I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me. By what power, in whose name do you do these things? There is none other name given under heaven, whereby men must be saved.

"Now, I want to add part of the 13th verse. 'Now, when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, they took knowledge of them, that they had been with Jesus.'"

Some of them looked back to the time when Peter had a chance to testify to them that he had been with Jesus, but he had been afraid of these same rulers and scribes; but now, he was ready to testify to that which he knew. He himself, was not up to the standard man had made, and although they were unlearned in the schools of the time, they 'marveled and took knowledge of them.' Now some of us may feel we have not much education, and rightly so, we may feel that we are weak, and rightly so; but friends, it is no matter how weak and insignificant you are, when you come to that place, where you absolutely surrender to God, people will realize that you have been with God. Men who have accomplished great things, have been those who depended on God, and we too, can do great things, when we have God to depend on, for we know that He will see us through."

YOUR VERDICT ABOUT CHRIST SUNDAY TOPIC

ORANGE, June 22.—"Your Verdict About Christ" was the subject of the sermon Sunday morning at the Christian church by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck. The anthem by the choir was, "Lead Kindly Light," by Crail. Mrs. Leon Des Larzes sang "Promise of Life," by Cowen.

The Rev. Mr. Minck said in part: "Jesus and His disciples were together when He asked them, 'What do men say that I am?' Peter answered 'Thou art the Christ.' Each of us has the decision to make. We are in the stream of life while we are making up our decision which shore to make, we are not standing still but we are drifting and drifting is always down stream. That is the only question under heaven that everybody must answer. We are commanded to go unto the uttermost parts of the world preaching Christ. We have different occupations for making a living but we all have one command in common, 'Go.' Jesus did not say you may, or He would like to have you, he said 'Go.'"

"Jesus is speaking to you. Are you heading now, or are you drifting while making up your decision?"

There is a yearning in each human heart for something greater than himself, that is answered in Christ, the Son of God. "Come unto me all ye that labor and I will give you rest." Pilate said, "I find no fault in Him." Judas knew Jesus. He knew whereof he spoke. Truly this was the Son of God. What is your verdict?

"We have the record of the verdict of his disciples and later of Paul and God himself said 'This is my beloved Son.' In the eyes of God today what are you saying? Are you uttering unclean words or have you unclean thoughts. Are you denying Christ today? Or are you showing forth the love of God in your face of joy and a growing happiness. Man knows your verdict by your life. Watch the little things of life. Every Christian is in danger of denying Christ unless his heart is so filled with the love of God that happiness shows forth in his every action. Make your decision today, do not drift."

The evening service was in honor of Father's day with a sermon on "The Fatherhood of God and Father's Day." The choir sang "Jesus the Very Thought of Thee." Mrs. Leon Des Larzes and Floyd Owings sang a duet.

COCHET, NET MARVEL, LOSES TO UNKNOWN Lackaye Confident Stars Will Take Second Half

RACE TO BEGIN TUESDAY: LIST OCHOA FINDER

Checkfull of the old collegiate confidence after the runaway his club made of the first round, "Long George Lackaye, astute pilot of Santa Ana's Stars, went on record today with a prediction that the champions would also win the second half of the split National Night league baseball schedule which opens tomorrow.

"We'll have a much harder fight on our hands," Lackaye admitted reluctantly. "It may be a 'hoss race' clear to the wire. Every team in the league will be leveling at us. But I think we'll win by a margin of at least one game. Our club has the pitching, catching, fielding and baserunning. Our hitting will be better next half than it was this half. Nothing can stop us now."

Other baseball followers, not quite as optimistic as the confident Lackaye, were frankly skeptical, however, of Santa Ana's chances for the second half.

Wilcox, Nelson Still Out They believed that injuries to "Benny" Wilcox and Wayne Nelson which will keep the veterans out of several important contests at the opening of the second half will be a tremendous handicap to overcome for a club, even as gritty as the Stars. The doubting Thomases also questioned whether Santa Ana, in the face of vastly improved opposition, would be able to pull out of the fire as many close, tough games as they did during their amazing run of victories earlier in the season.

Wilcox, easily the class of ers in short-base night ball, is having considerable trouble with his right eye, badly cut in a game at Westminster a week ago. He is lost to the team for another week, possibly two. Nelson's injured shoulder is also responding to treatment slowly although x-rays show that no bones were broken when Nelson fell heavily after making a spectacular running catch in an exhibition affair with Colton several weeks ago. Nelson's shoulder is still so sore it pains him greatly to throw.

The National Night league's recent drastic ruling which provides that no team may carry more than two pitchers was aimed directly at the powerful pitching staffs of Santa Ana and Anaheim but it looks like none of the also-rans are going to profit at Santa Ana's expense.

Ochoa To Remain Here Hereafter, Lackaye announced, Pitcher Joe Ochoa is an outfielder. The little fast-ball specialist will remain with Santa Ana in that capacity. Joe Cornelius and Earl Morrill with stick as hurlers.

Confident that the Stars will be in the inter-league playoffs with Colton or Riverside, Lackaye counts on Ochoa to beat either of these teams on their own grounds. The Riverside and Colton parks are pill-boxes where top flys go for extra base hits. Cornelius and Morrill count on their fielders to play their defense. Ochoa can blaze a fast ball past most hitters and he will continue as a star, an outfielder until August 21, thereafter a pitcher again. The arrangement is satisfactory to Ochoa and it comes within the league's own rules.

Santa Ana plays at Whittier tomorrow, comes home Friday to meet the pesky Peppers of Garden Grove, the club that gave Santa Ana more trouble than any other except Anaheim during the first half.

MATE, 20 GRAND TO RUN AT ARLINGTON?

CHIVAGO, June 22.—(UP)—Another meeting between Twenty Grand, Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes winner, and Mate, Freshness and American Derby winner, today was hoped for in the $75,000 added Arlington Classic here, July 18.

A. C. Bostwick, millionaire owner who came here to saddle his horse, Mate, for the American Derby at Washington park Saturday, said after the race he would start him in the Arlington Classic, "and I plan to send my horse here about two weeks before the Arlington Classic to prepare him for that race. I hope Twenty Grand accepts the issue."

There may be a big league job just around the corner for Wesley Fesler, above, Ohio State athlete who perhaps is most widely known as an All-American end in football. Fesler recently signed with the Columbus Redbirds of the American association. Although he played on the infield, usually first base, at Ohio State, the Buckeye star is being given a chance to make the grade as an outfielder with the Redbirds.

LEAVITT DALEY AGAIN LEADING STARS AT BAT

Coming out of an early season slump with a flurry of ringing baseballs, Leavitt Daley, the 1930 champion, is again leading the Santa Ana Stars at bat, according to averages for the first half of the current night baseball season.

Daley picked up 22 points in the last three weeks, running his season average to .363. He passed "Memph' Hill, leader at the last average readings, who dropped 26 points but held second place with .351. Wayne Nelson is third with .326 and Ed Daley, brother of the demon Leavitt, fourth at .326. Randolph Bell, .304, is fifth and the only other .300 batsman.

L. Daley also leads the club in league game hitting with a mark of .311, a gain of 76 points since May 23. Hill is second with .309. Nelson third with .297, "Roy" Merrill fourth with .296, and Ed Daley fifth at .292.

One of the features of the past quarter was Darwin Scott's hitting. The little third baseman seems to have regained his old eyes. He picked up 46 points in league games, 32 for the season.

Leavitt Daley has made the most runs, 23, as well as the most hits, 42. Hill leads in doubles with 11. Scott in triples with 4. Bell in homers with 7. Bell leads in total bases with 65. L. Daley is next with 58, Hill third with 51.

L. A. A. C. TO SELECT TRACK SQUAD OF 31

LOS ANGELES, June 22.—(UP)—Thirty-one athletes will represent the Los Angeles Athletic club in the National A. A. U. track and field meet at Lincoln, Neb., July 4. Coach Boyd Comstock announced today.

The University of Southern California is supplying a large number of Comstock's men, with former middle-western stars added to the squad roster. Representatives of the Southern Pacific A. A. U. in the de-catholion will be decided in a championship match to be staged here.

ROAMING CAMERAMAN CATCHES SPORTS PICTURES HERE, THERE, EVERYWHERE

Out of a season of disappointment and defeat, Navy recovered its rowing prowess in the annual intercollegiate four-mile race at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to win one of the most remarkable victories the Hudson river ever has seen. Pictured above is the finish of the spectacular battle, with the eight midshipmen and their coxswain flashing over the line to win by little more than a length from Cornell's defending champions. The Washington shell, shown at left, was third. It was the third fastest race in the history of the rowing classic, and was staged in a driving rain.

Willowick's Team 8 To 4 Golf Victor

Arrangements were being made today for a return series of golf matches between players from the Santa Ana Willowick and Long Beach Municipal clubs, following Willowick's 8-4 victory over the public links representatives at Willowick yesterday. The return engagements will be held at Long Beach.

Willowick's colorbearers proved better under pressure than their visitors, several Santa Anans shooting in the 70's. The summary:

Ralph Gray and Ben Manker, Willowick, defeated Bert Johnson and Bill Crandall, 2-1 to 1-2.

Frank Osborne and B. J. Morey, Willowick, defeated Glenn Waterbury and Ben Templeton, Long Beach, 3-0.

Frank Angell and Dick Ewert, Willowick, defeated Herb Hussey and James Salazar, Long Beach, 2-1 to 1-2.

Andy Anderson and DeArmond Schmitt, Long Beach, defeated Roy Campbell and R. E. Chapman, Willowick, 3-0.

BOSTON BRAVES AND CLEVELAND HOUND LEADERS

NEW YORK, June 22.—(UP)—Boston's Braves and the Cleveland Indians, fourth place teams in the National and American leagues respectively, have little prospect of winning places in the 1931 world series, but they are proving serious obstacles to the championship favorites.

The Braves have played an important part in preventing the St. Louis Cardinals from piling up a big lead in the National league, with six victories in ten starts against the defending champions. After winning a doubleheader from the Cards Saturday, the Braves won a first game of a double bill Sunday, 6 to 2, before they were defeated, 1 to 0.

Cleveland weakened Washington's hopes of overtaking the Philadelphia Athletics by defeating the American league runners-up, 3 to 1. Alvin Crowder and Wes Ferrell engaged in a pitching duel for six innings but Ferrell broke the 1 to 1 tie with a homer in the seventh inning and his teammate Morgan added a homer in the eighth.

The Senators defeat enabled Philadelphia to increase its lead to four full games by beating the Chicago White Sox, 6 to 5.

SCHNEIDER ADDS TO ROW OF VICTORIES

CHICAGO, June 22.—(UP)—Louis Schneider, Indianapolis, who won the 500-mile Memorial day automobile race, added another victory to his credit and boosted his point score in the A. A. A. standing by winning a 100-mile race at the Roby speedway Sunday.

Even the experts report this fault. Club golfers who used to break 80 find that they are taking two putts where they used to take one.

Professionals at Knoxville, Tenn., were reported about evenly divided over the new and old ball. One pro, voting for the return of the old ball, says the "lighter ball" can do more tricks on the green than a monkey can do with a bag of peanuts.

HEAVIER GOLF BALL PLANNED: DOOM 'BALLOON'

BY DAN O'REILLY (I.N.S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, June 22.—Maybe the subject should never have been brought up, but here's a prediction:

Not many days after the 1931 National Amateur championship at Beverly, the United States Golf association will make a statement concerning a new golf ball, which will be of tremendous interest to every player in the country.

In short, the "balloon" is doomed, the next ball will be as large as the present demon, but as heavy as the discarded ball of 1930, and will include the best features of each.

Dozens of balls of various makes and sizes and weights are being tried out by the U.S.G.A. right now; the manufacturers are busy looking for a rubber-core that will help their business, not kill it as the balloon has done.

Bobby Jones is at Chicopee, Mass., in the laboratory of a big sporting goods store, making expeditions with an eye to the future. The rumor persists that if the U.S.G.A. reverted to the heavier ball, Bobby would be right in the thick of competitive battle again, instead of on the sidelines as at present.

He ascribes the difference to an improvement in iron play. He has carefully analyzed his putting game and discovered that where he used to put in par, he is now taking three or four strokes above par in an 18-hole round. But his score averages three lower than last year. He much have picked up several strokes on his iron play to make up for the putting deficiency.

The complaints over drives have been loud and interesting. The new ball mounts into the wind and has very little bounce and roll. Golfers with a tendency to hit curves find that their slice or hook is more pronounced than ever.

GOLFERS SPEAK UP

It never has been any secret that golfers know a great many flamboyant phrases that would have made Queen Victoria's face red. But since the new balloon ball has been adopted by the U. S. G. A., the divot-diggers' average budget of naughty terms has gone up like steel during the war days. These times may be hard but bad words are booming.

The golfer who used to break 100 and finds that he cannot do it with the larger-lighter ball seems to be making the most noise, judging by replies to a poll in many newspapers throughout the country. The chief fault seems to be that the new apple simply will not putt. It rims the cup or goes straight on across.

Even the experts report this fault. Club golfers who used to break 80 find that they are taking two putts where they used to take one.

BUSY WEEK ON TAP FOR CITY LEAGUE NINES

A schedule of playoffs for postponed games in the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league was announced today by Kenneth Morrison, president.

Eight games behind because of interference of one kind or another, the teams will begin making up their lost ground tonight when the Moose and the Baptists collide in the Bowl.

Other playoffs listed by Morrison follow:

June 29—Baptists vs. Presbyterians; July 7—Baptists vs. Hawleys; July 8—Spurgeon M. E. South, vs. Moose; 7 p.m.; Presbyterians vs. A's Auto Service, 8 p.m. July 9—Mystery Team vs. Baptists, 7 p.m.; Hawley's vs. Monroe's pharmacy, 8 p.m.; July 13—Mystery Team vs. Hawley's.

The feature of this week's regular schedule is coming up Thursday night when the undefeated Hill-Cardens, the league-leaders, collide with the dangerous Hawley's at 8 o'clock.

This week's schedule:
Monday—Baptists vs. Moose.

CRACK GOLFERS IN TRIALS FOR U. S. CUP TEAM

SCIOTO GOLF CLUB, COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—(INB)—Troubled only by swelling hills and an uncut rough—hazards that mother nature left behind—13 hopeful professional golfers teed off today in a 72-hole battle for two vacancies on Uncle Sam's Ryder Cup team.

About them when they started out over these historic fairways—here where Bobby Jones won his second National Open title in 1926—languished the eight Britishers whom the two victors of today and six others will meet in the international Ryder Cup matches Friday and Saturday.

Winners in the qualifying rounds, which will end tomorrow, will team with Walter Hagen, Leo Diegel, Gene Sarazen, Horton Smith, Al Espinosa, and Johnny Farrell.

Although the actual Ryder Cup play was scheduled for only Friday and Saturday, a busy and eventful week awaited the golfers. After the qualifying rounds, Wednesday will be spent in practice. Thursday the Johnny Walker tournament for golf writers will be played. Throughout the week the United States Professional Golf association will be in session.

MAY AND SCOVELLI, L. A. DRIVERS, HURT

SAN JOSE, June 22.—(UP)—Two Los Angeles race drivers were in a hospital today under treatment for injuries received during trial heats at the Sunday automobile races here.

Walter May, the most seriously hurt, suffered a possible concussion of the brain, a broken shoulder and several fractured ribs when his car overturned from a collapsed front wheel.

Robert Scovelli was badly bruised when his machine skidded and rolled over at a turn.

Cruickshank Wins Three Net Crowns

Josephine Cruickshank will have three titles to take along when she heads east next week for her annual invasion of the major American tennis tournaments.

The 22-year-old Santa Anan, ranked fifth nationally, won championships in women's singles, women's doubles and mixed doubles—everything she entered—at the Long Beach Open tourney, completed yesterday.

Miss Cruickshank had to come from behind to score her victory in the singles over Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, ranked sixth nationally. Mrs. Arnold, a San Franciscan, won the first set, 5-7, but Miss Cruickshank took the second, 6-4, and the match, 6-2.

Paired with Carolyn Babcock, the Santa Ana girl then defeated Graceyn Wheeler and May Doeg in doubles, 6-3, 6-2, and after a brief rest teamed up with Les Stoeften to win the mixed doubles from Mrs. Arnold and Jack Tidball, 6-4, 14-12.

Tidball rather unexpectedly defeated Stoeften for the men's singles crown, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

THOMPSON AND BEARD WIN AT COUNTRY CLUB

WORLD'S BEST PLAYER UPSET AT WIMBLEDON

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 22.—(UP)—Henri Cochet of France, generally regarded as the finest player in the world, was eliminated from the English tennis championships today in the first round by Nigel Sharpe of England, 6-1, 6-3, 6-2.

Cochet's defeat by Sharpe, so little known that he is not even listed in the "Who's Who in English Tennis," came as a stunning surprise. The Frenchman, despite his recent illness which prevented his appearance in the French hard court championship, ruled a favorite to win the singles title.

Cochet's loss would indicate he still is suffering from the effects of his illness and may not be in condition for the Davis Cup matches late in July. With Cochet on the sidelines or off form France will be hard pressed to defend the cup it won in 1927.

Cochet, famed for his total lack of "nerves," was pale and nervous when he appeared against the Englishman. He never was able to hit his stride, and Sharpe, taking advantage of his opponent's weakness, forced the pace throughout. Sharpe, while he did not play a brilliant game, played a steady one and refused to be drawn into errors.

Cochet was a far cry from the superb player so familiar to Wimbledon audiences. His stroking was erratic and he was unable to cover the court in his usual "blanket" style.

John Van Ryn mopped up F. Schaeffer, of Jugoslavia, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

Frank X. Shields disposed of the South African star, P. D. E. Spence by an equally impressive score, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

TOURNEY COLORLESS WITHOUT TILDEN, MRS. MOODY

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 22.—(INB)—With its color somewhat dimmed by the absence of Mrs. Helen Willis-Moody and William T. Tilden, the annual British lawn tennis tournament starts here today.

Their absence left the outcome of the singles matches a matter of keen speculation. The tournament is the most "open" one that has been staged for the last ten years.

George M. Lott Jr., John Van Ryn and Frank X. Shields will carry the banner for America in the men's matches. Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, representing the last of the "Four Musketeers" of France, were conceded to be up against stiff opposition in the doubles from the American players as well as "Bunny" Austin and Fred Perry, king-pings of the British squad.

The absence of Mrs. Moody, whose unparalleled skill made the championship a certainty for the United States during the last four years, means that a new woman titleholder must be found.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, one of the few left-handed women players of note, will deputize for Mrs. Moody as the highest-ranked American competitor. But popular feeling here is that Helen Jacobs, well-acquainted and thoroughly acquainted with the Wimbledon conditions, will be the most formidable American contender. Mrs. Van Ryn, the former Marjorie Gladman, is also expected to put up a great show.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

TELLS NEED OF 'SUBSTITUTES' DOING THINGS FOR GOD' IS JESUS TAUGHT SERMON TOPIC

The importance of doing the things that have been pointed out by Jesus, making them a part of one's life experience, was stressed by the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, in his sermon last night on "A Part of the Sermon You Dare Not Neglect."

"Jesus makes it very clear and pointed that an indispensable factor of the sermon on the Mount is the short expression, 'and doeth them,'" the Rev. Mr. Owings said. "The great teachings will have their benefit in no other way. Men try to find substitutes for putting into practical life these potent truths. For instance, they admire these words of Jesus, they love to reach or to teach them, they 'feel good' when they read them or hear them read, they even assent to them or fill their lives with the good intentions of doing them. But according to Jesus none of these will suffice. Only the man who does them builds his imperishable house upon a rock."

"And of course we see, first, Jesus recognized that the only way to learn things well is not simply to listen to instructions but actually to do them and thus make them part of one's muscles. This is the modern method of education and is the practical truth that men have been experiencing. To learn how blessed the merciful way is when we actually go out of our way to do a deed of mercy, how blessed are the peace-makers when we actually have a part in making peace. One never learns a sermon until he actually does that it says."

"Or again, Jesus knew that a man never becomes convinced of the truth of such matters until he actually puts them into practice for himself. We say that 'feeling is believing.' In just the same way for most of us doing proves. We find the truth or truth of 'do good to him that does evil to you' not by forming our advance judgments on how it will work but by actually working it out in daily life."

"Thus Jesus knew that only in living these truths does a man know the benefits in his own life and in the society around about him. By actually seeking first the kingdom of God, by actually seeking the narrow way, by actually saying to God does a person know the good it does to him and the way it makes him a blessing to others."

CHURCH BUSINESS MEETS SCHEDULED

During the months of July, August and September, business meetings of all departments of the Santa Ana Church of the Nazarene will be held on the same night of the month at Irvine park. The church board reached this decision at its meeting this week and selected the first Monday night of each month as the time for the business sessions of all departments of the church. The business of the church will be handled after a picnic supper and a social evening will follow the business sessions.

Officers of the board were elected at the meeting this week as follows: secretary, Mrs. F. R. Cline; treasurer, C. W. Riggle; assistant to treasurer, Hazel Newman; chorister, Mrs. U. E. Harding.

MOSES' STORY IS APPLIED TO MODERN TIMES

Talking about present conditions and pointing to a lesson from the past, the Rev. Paul Andrews, pastor of the Christian Spiritual Science church, preached last night from the text "Now it is high time to awake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than we believed," Romans, 13:11. He said in part:

"In using this text, I have in mind the economic conditions of our times and old Mother Grundy is very much in evidence, on every hand we hear grumbling with old man growl in the ascendency. You do not doubt have read the story of Moses as a leader, but let me tell it to you as applying to our present conditions."

"It matters not now young or old we are when we start. It matters much which way we look. Perhaps the youngster who starts right is a bit of the initial advantage. But nobody should say 'It's too late to try at my age.' Start the moment you awake. Eternity is ahead and a few years more or less won't make any difference after a while. 'My day is past' is the evil spirit's own hope. Today is always 'my day.' Shakespeare was talking about material gain when he wrote about 'There is a tide in the affairs of men.' The spiritual flood tide is always today."

"Moses, the great Hebrew lawgiver, was 80 years old before he really began to function. When you think of it, all our life is just getting ready for the next mill. If Moses had retired at the ripe age of 79, we would never have read about him. If Moses had retired to a checkbook in a grocery store, or to pitching horseshoes up the alley and talking about the winter of eighty-eight, he would have been just the 17th mummy on the 35th row in the green pickle jar."

"Imagine Moses living today amidst the din of the high school orations on 'the age of the young men' and the older notions that people start downhill at forty. Imagine Moses living on 'borrowed time' when he becomes leader of the Israelite host."

"I see Moses at 80 start for the wilderness so fast that Aaron can't keep up. Moses is 85 and busier, wiser, more enthusiastic than ever. The people say, 'Isn't Moses dead?' Well why isn't he dead? They appoint a committee to bury Moses. You cannot do anything nowadays without a committee. The committee gets out the invitations and makes all arrangements for a gorgeous funeral, but they cannot bury Moses. He cannot attend. You cannot bury anybody until he consents."

"Moses is 90 and running on high. He has hardly time to sleep. He is doing ten men's work, and his friends all say he is killing himself. Moses is 95 and burning the candle at both ends. He is a 100."

PASTOR TELLS ABOUT DANGER OF DRIFTING

That the ease of drifting constitutes its peril and fascination, and that the mind which is adrift is blown away by every wind of doctrine, were statements made yesterday in his sermon to the congregation of the First United Brethren church by the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor. The subject of his sermon was "The Danger of Drifting." He said in part:

"Drifting is an unconscious process. The ease of it constitutes its peril, and we might add, its fascination. It requires no effort to drift. The hard pull to regain the lost ground gives the word 'drifting' a meaning we hardly realize before. The moment progress ceases, drifting begins. As long as the Christian rests on his oars he loses ground. He may fancy that he is all right, but if he ever wakes to the consciousness of his loss he will be startled at his distance from God."

"Moral and spiritual drift is liable to be very rapid and fatal. Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things we have heard, lest at any time we let them slip. For how shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation which at first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him. Negligence means ruin."

"By simple neglect multitudes of souls have let themselves drift from the redemption point and have gone down to eternal death. There are thousands of church members in California who have come here with good intentions, and fascinated by the climate and the sights to be seen here have yielded to the call of friends, and have gone sight seeing with them and neglected the house of God on the Lord's day until they have drifted so far away from God that if they don't wake up soon they will be eternally lost."

"An anchored ship may be laying on the waters as smooth as glass, and yet before the master is aware his keel is on the rock. The invisible tide bore him away so softly that he did not observe the action. So are thousands of people—yes, and some of them are professed Christians, too, carried on the rocks, not by gales of adversity, but by under currents of strong temptation. One by one they are seduced into the dance hall or the card room or euchre party, or the wine room or they feel the grip of sensual temptation, but take no alarm until they strike the rock, with a hideous rent in their character."

"Wherefore, come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, said the Lord Almighty."

"The remedy is sturdy rowing back to God and stout anchoring to Him. The direction of the tide is always away from God. The mind that is adrift is not anchored to any truth. It is blown away by every kind of doctrine. Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit, shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

REVIVAL NEED IN SANTA ANA IS STRESSED

"Does Santa Ana Need the John Brown Revival?" was the subject of the Rev. U. E. Harding, pastor of the Nazarene church Sunday evening. The discourse in part was as follows:

"Some object to evangelists, saying they take too much money out of town. John Brown says as little about money as any evangelist we could secure. All of his revivals in Orange county will not take as much money out as the Walkathon held in this city some months ago. And God only knows what it left in its trail. No one can accuse us of having too many revivals. This is the first united effort in many years."

"Some have objected to Brown's school. To my mind, he should be commended for his work. He runs it in the mountains for poor boys and girls, and while schools in richer communities fail for finances this school without a paid tuition goes on. He is welcome to all he gets for his school, for it goes to a good cause."

"Others say, many of those who go to the inquiry room are church people. I don't suppose any one goes there that doesn't need to go. If he can corral some of my sheep and do them good I will be happy. There are those who object to evangelists but the office is as plain in the scriptures as that of the pastor. For the perfecting of the body of Christ."

"When the church of today can find a substitute for revivals that will produce the same kind of converts and church members that the old protracted meetings produced, well and good." At this point the pastor asked the audience how many of them were converted, and joined the church through the influence of revivals and the vote showed ninety-nine per cent in favor of revivals."

"Our churches need a revival," the pastor continued. "We need better lives and better givers. The lack of attendance to church and prayer meeting is a proof that we can stand a revival. We need a revival of family religion. We need it among our young people."

REV. BUCHANAN GIVES ADDRESS ON FATHERHOOD

The responsibility of fatherhood formed the basis of the discussion by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan during the lesson hour of the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox West Coast theater yesterday morning in the observance of "Father's Day."

"Fatherhood is a noble position to aspire to and to enjoy," the class teacher, who is pastor of the First Christian church, began. "Father's love may not be seen so vividly as mother's love, possibly because mother is in the home and with the family more. But the father is out tolling for the support of his family and is thinking of them and trying to plan for them."

"Most of us fathers have sinned against our families—being too concerned with business and outside affairs. It is not right to push the children from our lap and pull their arms from around our necks as they are pleading with you to stay home one night and play with them or plan with them, then pick up your hat and go out to some committee meeting."

"When children are placed in our hands they are divine beings to be molded. How will they be molded? That is up to us."

"It has been said that the worst boys are minister's sons. I challenge that statement. Many of the leading business men of our nation are minister's sons. They know what it means to work and struggle and sacrifice. No man who raises his son partially on his knees will have his son go very far wrong in this world."

"We must put truth, integrity and character into the child's life. If the child goes wrong, don't blame him. Let's take our own medicine. It is because we have failed some where along the line. Think before you say 'No' to a child, but when you say it, mean it."

"Another thing fathers must do is to teach their children to work. The greatest hazard to our nation today is idleness."

Special music during the fellowship hour yesterday consisted of solos by Whitcomb Harding, son of the Rev. and Mrs. U. E. Harding, of the Church of the Nazarene, one of whose numbers was "Bells of the Sea."

W. B. Martin, class president, announced that the annual election of officers would be held June 30 and that a nominating committee would make a report to the class next Sunday. A business meeting is scheduled to be held next Tuesday night.

Newly-weds Depart For Honeymoon In Yosemite

Wedded yesterday morning at 8 o'clock in the attractive home of the Rev. Mr. Fischer on Panorama Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder are now well on their way to the Yosemite valley where they will spend their honeymoon, returning to this city to establish their home after the first of July.

Mrs. Snyder was Miss Bernice MacLaren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merton F. MacLaren, 1227 East First street. Mrs. Snyder is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder, 215 Maple street. For the pretty morning ceremony, the bride wore an ensemble costume of rose crepe with all dress accessories in blue tones. Her flowers were gardenias tied with silver ribbon and worn as a corsage, and completing her costume was her bridegroom's gift of a necklace of crystals and topaz.

Mrs. Hugh Vanhoey as her attendant, wore an eggshell sport costume with white accessories, and also wore a corsage of gardenias. Lyle MacLaren, brother of the bride, served Mrs. Snyder as best man.

Returning to the MacLaren home the new Mr. and Mrs. Snyder were complimented before their departure at an elaborate wedding breakfast served by Mrs. Merton MacLaren. Covers were laid for the hosts, and for Mr. and Mrs. Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Vanhoey, Mr. and Mrs. Dorman and children, Evelyn and Joe Edward, and Lyle MacLaren.

Pleasant Evening of Bridge Shared By Club Members

Members of their bridge club were pleasantly entertained Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dane were hosts at Ketter's. In keeping with the beauty of the first summer month were the appointments observed throughout the evening, with pastel tints prevailing.

Place-cards for the dinner preceding the card games were graceful pastels with silver markings. French bouquets provided the floral note for the occasion.

In the usual session of cards which followed, Mrs. J. F. Jacoby and Carl Snyder held high scores, and Mrs. Snyder and Noble Watson, second high. Prize awards were pretty wrapped in blue paper of butterfly design, mingled with silver and tied with shimmering ribbons.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cook, Laguna Beach, and Mesdames N. E. Watson, William Stanford, Wilbur Gill, Earl Lepper, Carl Snyder, Phil Lalonde, J. F. Jacoby, Doc Terrill, William Lepper, Harry Brown and the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Dane.

Guests From Oregon Are Welcomed

Mrs. Leonard Gilkey of Albany, Ore., with her son and daughters, Harold Gilkey and the Misses Grace and Helen Gilkey, have arrived to spend the summer in this city as guests of Mrs. Gilkey's sister, Mrs. Belle Lawrence, 712 Bush street, and niece, Mrs. Grace Ladd, 321 Beverly place. Mrs. Ruth Clark, 1065 Hickory street; Mrs. Jack DeGroot, 2118 Orange avenue, and Mrs. Edgar Leutwiller of La Habra.

Mrs. Gilkey, who is a property owner in this city, is quite well known here and has friends for various pleasant affairs during her stay. She and Mrs. Lawrence and the latter's son, George Lawrence, are spending a few days in San Diego and Mexico. Mr. Gilkey, who is secretary of the Albany Chamber of Commerce, was unable to leave his work to accompany his family south for the summer.

News of Riverside Wedding Revealed

Friends learned today of the marriage of Miss Vivian Ladd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ladd, this city, and Robert Prior, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Prior, of Garden Grove, as an event of Saturday in Riverside. The Rev. W. H. Harkness, former pastor of the Garden Grove Methodist church, performed the nuptial ceremony. Both Mr. and Mrs. Prior are graduates of Garden Grove union high school, and they plan to make their home in Garden Grove.

Little Dinner Party Is Pleasant Event

Mr. and Mrs. Fern Bishop were hosts at a pleasant little affair Saturday night, entertaining in their home at 403 East Santa Clara avenue. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Eger of Anaheim and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyon of San Diego.

Early in the evening a delectable dinner was served with an attractive bowl of pansies centering the table. A social time followed.

Clever Plan Adopted At Surprise For Miss Armstrong

Always ready to oblige her friends when they wish her splendid ability as an accompanist, Miss Ruth Armstrong complied with a recent request of Mrs. Clarence Scales (Sally Lee Scales) to come to her home for some songs which Mrs. Scales wished to sing for a group of out-of-town friends. But the songs were merely an excuse to assure the presence of Miss Armstrong at a delightful party which a little group of her friends planned as one of the end of the week events, honoring her before her departure for a vacation trip to Honolulu.

The guests had assembled in the Scales home at 1030 West Camille street, and in recognition of Miss Armstrong's vacation plans, were in appropriate costume, the men wearing colorful leis with their white flannels, and their wives appearing in grass skirts and appropriate adornments. The room was darkened for the entry of the honoree, and when the lights flashed on, the entire crowd began singing "Aloha." Miss Armstrong could do nothing but stand and stare at them, too completely surprised to move.

She speedily discovered that the entire evening was given over to her, beginning with a delectable supper to which the various guests contributed, and continuing with an informal musicale with songs by Mrs. Scales, Cecil Ross, Wilbur Gill, Earl Lepper, Carl Snyder, Phil Lalonde, J. F. Jacoby, Doc Terrill, William Lepper, Harry Brown and the hosts Mr. and Mrs. Dane.

As a souvenir of the occasion, the merry group presented the honoree with a handsome Italian leather diary in which to record outstanding events in her outing.

Sharing the evening were Miss Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Scales, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Babbit, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Della-baugh of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rannels, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Garway, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Willis and Charles Wollaston.

NEW STANDARD IS SET IN PERFECTING FLAVOR OF COFFEE

Roasting Process Used Exclusively by Hills Bros. Insures Uniformity

For years Hills Bros. have enjoyed a distinct advantage in the coffee roasting industry. For they have a patented roasting process that prevents variation in flavor.

The basic principle of the process is roasting "a little at a time." Automatically measured lots of rare blended coffees—about three pounds—are introduced into the roaster in a steady stream and pass along in a continuous flow, roasting a little at a time. The speed of the flow and degree of heat never vary with the result that Hills Bros. Coffee is absolutely uniform.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

Ingenuity—and a Good Saw

In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, but a woman's turns to thoughts of how to get some coveted new article for her house. This year the getting isn't so easy, for perfectly obvious reasons, so ingenuity must be called upon, prodded if necessary.

My wants were represented by a new dressing table, but it cost more than I could afford. I came home and viewed the room with critical eye. This is what I saw, and did.

The room, a small one with east and south exposure, had a group of casement windows in the south wall. The windows were three, with the center one stationary. As I looked around the room my first thought was, "where would I put the dressing table so that the mirror would have plenty of light?" "And, where will I get the mirror?" That expensive little thought just would have to creep in!

Then, full grown, the picture of the dressing table flashed through my mind—why not build a permanent one right under that group of windows, and set a specially cut piece of mirror glass flat against the center window?

I flew downstairs looking for lumber and found enough well seasoned boards to make the frame. The top I made 18 inches wide, with the assistance of some one who could saw straight. There were ends, the width of the top, and partitions that left the space directly under the window so that one can sit there comfortably.

You see this made two cupboards—cleans nailed on the ends with shelves—two of them—in each cupboard. These are convenient for shoes, extra magazines, etc.

But, now, you see, I've run out of space and this tale will have to be finished tomorrow. Read the rest of the story and see how the mirror and top of table were finished, and the way the table was draped.

TODAY'S RECIPE

RASPBERRIES

2 boxes raspberries
1 cup sugar
1 cup water
Juice of 1 lemon

Peel and stew 5 large apples, whip the sauce smooth, add sugar to suit. (Enough for four.)

Any kind of berry could be used for this sherbet recipe. Strawberries of course are first choice, but this is Hobson's choice, so I'm using the berry that is in the market this week.

Boil the sugar and cup of water for 15 minutes, mash the berries, combine with sugar, cook until the juice is extracted, then strain. When this thin syrup is cool, add the lemon juice and turn into the freezing pans to make what old cook books call "Granit," a sort of frappe. Stir a few times while the mixture is setting, when evenly frapped, leave it at ice-cream temperature until ready to serve.

Have you tried making apple mint sherbet to serve with leg of lamb? It has ordinary sloppy mint sauce beaten a mile, and how it adds to the smartness of the plain family dinner is a joy! You know, the family do love to have company surprised sprung on them occasionally. This is how you make the mint sherbet. Cool this sauce, add a few sprigs of fresh mint bruised and minced fine. Freeze to a firm frappe and serve in sherbet glasses with the roast lamb.

There are about 950 calories in the sherbet recipe. Nearly all of this total will be found in the sugar, an energy food. The recipe will serve six.

Fruit Syrups will be featured in the leaflet for this week. I am looking forward to next winter's frozen desserts, and the punches you will want to serve for informal evening snacks and luncheon parties.

Don't fail to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, any day this week, and a free copy of this leaflet will be mailed to you.

Lemon Cheese will be the subject of tomorrow's lesson. This "cheese" is really a delicious lemon filling for cakes, tarts and other things.

ANN MEREDITH.

"MOROCCO" NOW AT WALKER STATE

A personality, a beauty as devastating as anything that has ever been seen on the screen flashed upon an amazed and awestruck audience at Walker's State theater last night, in the tremendous spectacle of the French Foreign Legion, "Morocco." She is Marlene Dietrich, the new Continental star, who, in "Morocco," begins a moving picture career which will surely sweep her into the front rank of moving picture favorites.

One just can't help marveling at the fact that Gary Cooper in the starring role, portrays in "Morocco" one of the greatest characters he has yet undertaken, and performs with a superb mastery. Again in uniform, Cooper is that type of devil-may-care, soldier lover whom every woman dreams of, and every man admires. In "Morocco," the talking screen has found its voice of love. Here is a love story that is vital, soul-stirring, real, with a ruthless, unreasoning fervor that dwarfs all other emotions. Cooper a soldier of the Legion; Miss Dietrich, a woman of mystery, a cabaret singer, who scorns all men. These two meet against the colorful background of "Morocco," and fall in love. Adolphe Menjou, the dapper sophisticate who starred in many memorable pictures, is the third member of the intriguing triangle that develops when Miss Dietrich whisks her charms into the opening scenes.

'TRADER HORN' COOPER'S NEW RETURNED HERE PICTURE SHOWS FOR SHORT RUN AT BROADWAY

"Trader Horn," one of the screen's best offerings, made entirely in Africa where Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sent an entire production company, comes back to Santa Ana today to be shown at the Fox West Coast theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday only.

The picture is being returned here by popular request. Every since it showed at the Fox Broadway theater for an entire week, the demand has been to have it returned and it is expected to do just as big a business on the second showing as it did at first.

It is the story of a hunter, Trader Horn, who goes into the interior of Africa with a small band and his adventures in places where no white man has ever gone before. In the center of the jungle he finds a white queen, raised by the natives and their master in every sense of the word. She rules her blacks with an iron hand and is more fierce than any animal in the jungle.

How she falls in love with one of the band, and is brought back to civilization make up the romantic part of the story, but it is not the romance that will be remembered. It is the realism of the picture, the wild animal shots and the photography. "Trader Horn" undoubtedly is one of the best pictures that has ever played in Santa Ana.

Harry Carey plays the part of Trader Horn. The girl is Edwina Booth, a new comer to the screen whose work in the picture won her a long time contract.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The Travel Man said, "Why don't you join in this fine parade line, too? I think the little Jap lads would be tickled if you would. Parading isn't hard at all, if you walk straight and do not fall." "You bet we will," cried Clowny. "And we'll prove we're pretty good."

And so the Tinies stepped right in. This made the little Jap lads grin. One handed Clowny Tiny-mite his sword and paper hat. "Oh, thank you," Clowny promptly said. The hat perched right on top his head and Mister Travel Man exclaimed, "You sure look queer in that."

They marched around a little while in quite a military style. Then Scouty loudly shouted "Halt! I think I've had enough. Of course I dearly love to play and have real fun both night and day, but I am not so keen about this crazy parading stuff."

"Gee! Speaking of parades, I know the very place we ought to go. Today this town's having a parade that's well worth while. A geisha girl's been named the queen of beauty. She will soon be seen. Just follow me. I'll show you a procession done in style."

They walked for several blocks or so and then wee Copy shouted, "Oh, we're just in time. Look down the street! The parade is coming now. I'm mighty glad that we came here. Just listen to the people cheer. My, everybody's happy. They're creating quite a row."

A wondrous float that towered high was very shortly passing by. 'Twas painted every color that the happy Tinies knew. The geisha beauty sat up front. The Tinies thought this quite a stunt, and shortly waved up at the girl. She waved back at them, too.

(The Tinymites learn something about jitsu in the next story.)

EDITOR SUNDAY SCHOOL TIMES ABOUT ROMANCE IN PLACENTIA OF FATHERHOOD

PLACENTIA, June 22.—"There is no place in nature for a good loser, neither is there a place for him in the spiritual life," said Dr. Charles E. Trumbull, editor of the Sunday School Times, in the first of his sermons in the Victorian Life conference which he is holding at Calvary church this week.

Continuing, he said, "we usually wonder about what we can do for God but in this conference we are going to find out what God can do for us, for very few Christians know much about the grace of God. The Victorian life, which is only an expression for the spiritual life, is based on complete surrender of self. There is a real victory in living this life and there is a counterfeit one; and any victory which comes through personal effort is counterfeit. The real victory comes when we let Christ live in us."

At the morning session Dr. Trumbull talked on his personal experiences, and in the evening he gave the difference between real and counterfeit victory.

Evening services will be held each day of the week at 7:30 o'clock and from 10 to 11 a. m. Monday to Friday inclusive Dr. Trumbull will conduct a question hour.

Thursday evening the session will open at 7:15 o'clock with the Westminster family and 10 sons of African missionaries present in a mutual service, with testimonies and gospel numbers. Dr. Trumbull will conclude with his message at 8:30 o'clock.

PASTOR SHOWS GREATNESS OF JESUS' LIFE

That the acknowledgement of Jesus in life and the realization of His power will bring the Master to those who seek communion with Him as He came to the publicans and sinners in need when He was on earth, was the assertion of the Rev. W. J. Fatter, pastor of the Episcopal church of the Messiah in his sermon yesterday morning. The text, "This man receiveth sinners and eateth with them," was taken from Luke 15:2. He said in part: "Some people have a personality so magnetic that it draws others to them and so strong that it influences others for good or ill. The greatest personality of all times is Jesus. His is the most magnetic, inspiring, and powerful of all. He attracted, when He was on earth, not only the higher classes, but even the poor, wicked, and degraded were drawn to Him. Thus He received sinners and ate with them."

"Some few were not thus attracted—the Scribes and the Pharisees—they sought to find fault with Him. They found their opportunity when He dined with the publicans. But that was not all they found out."

"They learned that He associated with sinners to save them. He knew what the poor and wicked needed and He mingled with them to sympathize and help. He stooped down to them to draw them up to Him and so they were willing to receive Him. Thus He helps us all today and so should we help others."

"Another thing they learned was that He did not mingle with sinners because He had to, or for hope of gain, but because He loved them. If we would help others as He did, it must be with love in our hearts, since those who need help most are quickest to detect and resent patronage."

"As Christ ate with sinners in Nazareth, so He eats with us

Declaring that pride, co-operation, responsibility and religion are feelings with attendant challenges that arise on the arrival of a baby, and pointing out the finest estate that a father can leave his children, Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, preached yesterday morning in observance of Father's day on "The Romance of Daddyhood."

"Strange as it may seem," he began, "Fatherhood is centered in babyhood. There is no experience so thrilling in all the category of life's experiences as the arrival of a baby. The diameter of one's love is lengthened. A new appreciation of the cost of the race comes along. Motherhood is sanctified in the thought of her mate. The whole world is seen through new eyes—the eyes of a father. Certain feelings with their attendant challenge arise."

"First, pride. The pride of a father is pardonable. There is a high exhilaration that wells up in a man's heart where for the first time he has in his arms flesh of his flesh, blood of his blood, life of his life. The man whose heart will not beat a little faster and whose breath will not come a little more quickly when he has his baby in his arms must be completely frostbound of nature."

"Second, co-operation. To him who cares to be a least bit reflective there arises a new conception of being a worker together with God in the birth of a child. Creation is external until this experience makes it vital and awakens within one a sense of partnership. At this point God and man meet. We depend upon Him and trust His constant care. But when a life created in His image thrusts itself into our midst, God is manifest indeed."

"Third, responsibility. Human interest passes through many cycles. At one stage it is play centered; at another school centered; at another profession or business centered; but in fatherhood it becomes child centered. The highest approach to interest in God and Godlike things is through the heart of your child. You are protector. You are provider. You are example."

"Fourth, religion. Henry Sloan Coffin says 'Religion is response to a self-communicating God.' Father is a self-communicator to the child of his heart. The success of our communication of ourselves to our children measures their likeness to us. It is ours to re-educate ourselves in ever enlarging editions in the lives of our children."

"What are you sowing in the heart of the child? Purity, candor, honesty, cleanness of thought and speech, square dealing, social interest, ideal standards of conduct, reverence, love of God, and His church? A Jesus content in your life is the best insurance for a good character in your boy."

"Not every father is able to leave to his son a big estate made up of lands, mortgages and bonds, but any father can bequeath to his children an estate worth infinitely more—one for which they will rise up to call him blessed. He can leave an honorable name, a good reputation, the memory of a body life and a record for fair dealing. He can teach his son to have a profound respect for a fact, a deep reverence for character, a thirst for knowledge and a willingness to work. If any youth has all this he will not need any money that may be willed to him; if he does not have this, no amount of money left him will do him much good. This is an estate any man can leave to his children."

In the Holy Communion, as in that day, so it is now; neither learning, respectability, nor self-satisfaction are required. Only one thing is necessary and that is our knowledge of our need for Him. And so He replied to the Pharisees who criticized Him.

"If we acknowledge our need of Him and realize His power, He will come to us as to the publicans and sinners of long ago."

"GOOD NEIGHBORS"

President Hoover suggests a moratorium of twelve months in the payment of reparations on war debts, and uses this sentence: "I am suggesting to the American people that they be wise creditors in their own interest, and be good neighbors."

We are glad that President Hoover has taken the advanced stand of suspending the payment to ourselves of the portion of the payments due for the coming year, on condition it is suspended to Germany. It may mean a much more lenient attitude than we have heretofore taken in respect to the future, for twelve months is hardly long enough to re-establish the relationship which must exist in order that financial stability shall be assured.

While we might lament the little suggestion of the "wise creditor," we do want to emphasize the other portion of that sentence: "and be good neighbors." There is a tendency in dealing with debts, if a man desires to gain a reputation of being a good business man, of acting in a "hard-boiled" attitude.

Neighbors do not do things that way. A neighbor is a friend—a friend who can be depended upon in time of stress and need. The real neighbor is the one upon whom you can call for succor when all other avenues of help are either too remote or have been closed to you.

There is a relationship that exists in the thought of "neighbor" that is even closer than a relative. It presupposes that exchange in good will that is based upon the thought that the other party, who is now the giver, may tomorrow by necessity be the receiver. Neighbors of the right type hallow and sweeten life, make society worthwhile and existence a joy.

The United States is a Christian nation, presumably. The great Master of us all defined by a parable the meaning of the word "neighbor." The "neighbor" was the Samaritan who assisted even his traditional enemy, the Jew, who had been beaten, robbed and left half-dead. He carried him on his own beast to the inn, paid the innkeeper that he would stand good for the balance. The "neighbor" is the one who showed mercy unto him.

We are glad that the President of the United States emphasized the word "neighbor." It could well be the entire basis for the action shown.

MR. MANTLE SELECTS PLAYS

Mr. Burns Mantle, recognized authority on current drama, has selected the ten best plays of last season. The selection was made from 120 non-musical plays produced on Broadway and are the following plays: "Elizabeth the Queen," by Maxwell Anderson; "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," by Philip Barry; "Once in a Lifetime," by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman; "Green Grow the Lilacs," by Lynn Riggs; "Alison's House," by Susan Claspell; "As Husbands Go," by Rachel Crothers; "Five-Star Final," by Louis Weitzenkorn; "Overture," by William Bolitho; "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," by Rudolph Besier; "Grand Hotel," by Vicki Baum.

The list is interesting, not only in itself but for comparison with the ten best of other seasons, which Mr. Mantle has been keeping for the past ten years. It would necessitate a background of a considerable amount of play-going and play-reading to judge whether the season was good or bad, from the standpoint of dramatic progress, not box office receipts. The list probably includes a few number of innovations than customary. When one or two of the pioneers make the grade to success, there is a vast amount to talk about and build upon.

THESE DISTURBING HISTORIANS

Here is one writer, describing the origin of political parties in the United States, telling us how Jefferson and Burr ran on the same party ticket, and that Burr could have defeated Jefferson for the Presidency if he had only been willing to make a single promise to a number of electors in the Electoral College and palavered over a couple of blockheads who were members of the college. Yet he was too upright to make one promise, and too proud to jolly a couple of blockheads. Yet, see the mountain of obloquy that has rested upon Aaron Burr during all these years.

Then comes another writer, William Millis, in a book on "The Martial Spirit," who characterizes the Spanish War as a Comic Opera war brought about by the yellow press, against which Mr. McKinley could not stand, in spite of the fact that Spain had conceded to every demand our government made before the declaration of war was made. To read a book like this is to wonder how men can sink to such depths as to plunge a nation into war for which there was no reason or excuse.

These historians are very disturbing, but they are only retelling what was said by contemporaries.

One has only to read the speeches of Senator Hoar and others in the Senate when the proposition was up to annex the Philippines. In a Senate preponderately Republican the annexation bill carried by only one vote, and were it not for Mr. Bryan's desire for an issue for the ensuing campaign which made him use his influence to turn the requisite number of Democratic votes for the bill, we should never have annexed the Philippines. And as for Burr, the newspapers of the day were iterating and reiterating what an honorable man Burr was, and the Federalist party, the conservative party of that day, because it feared Jefferson, actually worked for Burr.

It all goes to prove that all history must be taken with a grain of salt. When the facts come out, heroes vanish, and traitors become patriots. It is disturbing, but better the bitter truth than the sweetest error.

THE VATICAN-FASCIST DISPUTE

The report comes from Rome that the conflict between the Vatican and the State is about to be settled. The question is, can it be settled? Where two irreconcilable points of view exist, and where these differences touch the very basic principles of both parties in the controversy, there never can be a permanent settlement.

Fascism demands absolute obedience to the State. There is no sphere in which the State is not supreme, even over the conscience of the individual. On the other hand, the Church demands absolute freedom in the education of all Italian children in matters of conscience as well as in matters of theological doctrine. We do not see how either party can surrender without cutting the foundations from under itself. It is the old conflict between an absolute church and an absolute state which has produced conflict ever since the Church became a world power.

There is no way out of the difficulty, and we can see no future accord between the Italian State and the Vatican, in spite of the carefully drawn concordat. There may be temporary truces, but never compromise or surrender, except by force. And the Church knows how to bide its time. It did so from the unification of Italy in 1871 to the rise of Mussolini. It can continue to wait no matter how insistent Mussolini may be.

Was It a Five-Payment Chariot?

Christian Science Monitor

After much listening to arguments pro and con on the subject of installment buying, in which both sides treat the system as a product of our modern times, it comes as a surprise to read in a bulletin from the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago that the "installment plan," or something similar, may have been in existence in ancient Egypt.

In deciphering a number of inscribed tablets in the collection of the museum, Dr. T. George Allen, assistant curator of Egyptian Archaeology, came upon one which proved to be a receipt for a series of payments made by a man named Pedikhonsu, in the year 30 of some Ptolemaic or Roman ruler of Egypt. The implication, according to the receipt, was that Pedikhonsu had purchased something on the installment plan.

Perhaps a further perusal of the tablets will bring to light something more of the nature of the transaction; whether, for instance, Mr. Pedikhonsu had turned in an old 22 model Egyptian chariot on a newer and more up-to-date Roman vehicle, or was, perhaps, making the usual "easy payments" on the Egyptian equivalent of a baby grand piano in order that his small daughter might have the benefit of a musical education.

Of one thing we may be fairly certain—that Pedikhonsu must have been assured of his income when the tablet was inscribed. For installment buying, when all is summed up concerning it, owes its great growth more to the stability of incomes than to any other single cause. In the earlier days of development in the United States, when work was more or less seasonal, and ebbed and flowed in booms and recessions much more than at present, installment buying had not become a practical system. With the steadying of business, and growing stabilization of income, and also with the steadying of personal habits with reference to drinking, so that collections became more assured, that plan of purchasing settled into its present practicability. Do not these reflections point some ways in which its continued usefulness can be fostered?

English in Cuba

New York Times

While there are laments from far and near that American tourists are not traveling in anything like their usual numbers this year, their language is still heard in foreign resorts. American films carry on the overseas conservations. In Cuba, a near neighbor, the talkies are helping to enlarge the native vocabulary of English words.

"O. K." is one of the Americanisms most often heard in a stream of Spanish vocabularies, a Baltimore Sun dispatch reports. One of our uglier slang expressions, it has, curiously, proved to be the first Yankee idiom picked up by the speakers of various different languages.

Terms such as sport, all right, club, lunch, bar, &c., are freely mixed with Spanish speech and are used in signs and advertising. Other words without an exact Spanish equivalent, have been naturalized and given Spanish endings. A boxer in Cuba becomes a boxador, a football player a futbolista, and a baseball bat a bate.

Sports probably borrow most generously. Golf and its technical terms are unchanged for Spanish use—par, birdie, stymie, and so on. But miniature golf does not have to describe itself as Tom Thumb or "Tomas Pulgar." Simply adding the usual Spanish diminutive makes it "golfito."

Ober-Gurgl the Cold

Oakland Tribune

We have been waiting for the National Geographic Society to come along and tell us more concerning Ober-Gurgl, town which saw the descent of Professor Piccard's famous metal ball. It is the loftiest town in Austria, set in some of the most imposing scenery of the eastern Alps. More than a mile above sea level, it has a winter eight months long and at no time is entirely free of snow. A cold place is Ober-Gurgl and it was a cold day when the men from the stratosphere landed.

Although the balloonists may not have appreciated the technical niceties of the glacier and mountainsides down which they were forced to scramble to the town, the district around Ober-Gurgl is a mountain climber's paradise. Lovers of vertical sports come to Ober-Gurgl for a post-graduate course, for, although its near-by peaks are not the highest, they are difficult to scale, and call to play all the skill and resourcefulness of experts.

Will Somebody Please Tell Him That Summer Is Here?

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A SIGH OF RELIEF

We know that we cannot go through space forever without eventually coming back.—Sir James Jeans.

I've always yearned to sail away
Across the stratosphere,
And not return for many a day—
Perhaps for many a year.
But I have feared that should I roam
So far from mortal ken,
I'd be unable to get home
Again.

Through distant planets I might view
Or flaming meteors meet,
As casually I traveled through
Some fiery cosmic street,
I'd think about my lowly cot
And have a heart attack
If I supposed that I might not Get back.

For what to me would all the sights
That I had witnessed mean
If I could never tell my friends of nights
About what I had seen?
Or, as I'd be, beyond a doubt
A highly honored guest,
I could not gloatingly puff out
My chest?

But now no longer do I fear;
From Sir James Jeans I learn
That if I cross the stratosphere
I simply must return.
No dark forebodings, no distress
Shall haunt my nomad heart,
So, in a day or two I guess
I'll start.

Sitting On First Base

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

In hard times, as well as in good times, business success depends on the choice of risks. Profits are the results of risks wisely chosen.

The makers of two competing products of nearly equal merit never make equal profits. The makers of Pepsodent know that, as well as the makers of Auburn cars and Gillette razors. Indeed it often happens that one producer makes substantial profits while the other contributes to the profits of the red ink industry. The explanation is chiefly in the risks that are taken.

If a business man is too venturesome in taking risks, he loses. If he is not venturesome enough, he loses. Between these two dangers, he must contrive to find a safe middle ground. He is like a baseball player who has reached first base. The closer he sticks to the base, the smaller risk he takes of being put out at first; but the smaller are his chances of making a run.

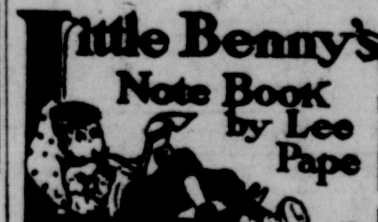

On the other hand, the farther off the base he plays, the greater risk he takes of being put out; but, if he is not caught, the greater are his chances of reaching second.

The most successful base-runner is the one who takes such risks that the pitcher can almost, but not quite, catch him. So, also, the most successful runner after profits is the one who usually takes his position in the middle ground between security and excessive danger.

But neither in business or in baseball is any man infallible. If he never runs what turns out to be too great a risk—if he never gets caught off the base, or never takes a business chance that results in a loss—he is overcautious.

That is the chief trouble with most bankers and business men right now. They are sitting on first base.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A CHALLENGE TO BUSINESS

I have said before in these articles that American business has an opportunity with destiny.

There have been historic hours before when other classes had appointments with destiny.

Kings have had their appointments! The Nobles have had their appointments! The Clergy has had its appointments!

The Submerged Classes have had their appointments! How these have met or missed their appointments with destiny has made history for the generations of men that have followed.

I have never taken the sniffling attitude that many of the intellectuals and liberals have taken toward business as a materialistic enterprise.

I believe profoundly in the words a great jurist once wrote:

"Long before the state arose from its couch, in the morning twilight of history, trade had already completed a good part of its day's work. While the states were fighting one another, trade found out and leveled the roads that lead from one people to another, and established between them a relation of exchange of goods and ideas; a pathfinder in the wilderness; a herald of peace; a torch-bearer of culture."

Business is more than making things.

Business is more than hauling things about.

Business is more than selling things.

Business is more than financing enterprises.

Business is, to a vast majority of men, life itself, for do they not spend most of their waking hours in it.

The three basic processes of production, distribution and consumption touch life at more points and often than all other social processes combined.

This is why, as I have said many times, the statesmanship or stupidity of business men is more vital to the nation than the statesmanship or stupidity of politicians.

Business men do not need to look wistfully over their shoulders at the colorful careers of the crusader, the soldier, the explorer. They are challenged today to make a nation, to put an economic system together by a better pattern, to give security to an insecure world, to find mankind for adventure among things that lie beyond bread and butter.

There was never a more challenging time in which to be a business man!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE SMART CHILD

"Old Mother Kleary told me to get off her grass this noon," said Baxter, between mouthfuls at dinner.

"I'll bet you had your answer ready," said father proudly.

"I sure did. I said to her, 'You're the only goose I see here so maybe you do need all the grass for yourself.' That fetched her. Old Goose. That's what we call her now when we pass her house."

"That's right, sonny. Hold your own. Nobody else'll do it."

"I don't think that Baxter should talk back that way," said grandmother gently. "Old Mrs. Kleary takes great pride in that bit of grass and it hurts her feelings to have a child talk back like that."

"Old Mother Kleary. Who's she? Nobody cares about her."

"Better have a dog's good will than his bite, you know," said Grandmother. "Baxter won't have many friends if his tongue runs away with him."

Children are quick enough with their tongues without our helping them. They need to be taught control rather than freedom there. In the first place older people are entitled to respect because they are old. Life means something when one has spent fifty or sixty years at it. A word let loose is loose forever and it is remarkable how long a hard word lasts and works its mischief.

Smart sayings are not half as smart as their creator thinks they are. They are rather cheap compared to the words of courtesy that might have taken their place. A pleasant word, a courteous reply take far more intelligence, far get off her grass this noon," said Baxter, between mouthfuls at dinner.

Nowadays children are beginning to think that a "wise crack" makes them appear smart. Most of their sayings are copied from the cheap talkies. High grade performers do not use them. The children store the phrases that bring laughs and use them when a good opportunity offers. They lose their original flavor when lifted from their peculiar setting and the result is anything but good. Still the children, encouraged by their mistaken elders, use them triumphantly.

The only thing to do is to start an opposing idea. Instead of praising the smart, sharp word, praise the retort courteous. Gather all the polite words, the neat replies, the fitting answers, that you can find and present them to the children as worthy their use. Of course you will have to like the courteous words yourself, or the children will never use them. They use what you admire.

In any case the sharp retort is not to be favored. I have never known anybody that was very sorry for something he did not say, but I know many who are very sorry for something they have said. When you cannot speak gently, with courtesy, keep still. Silence always has fine dignity.

SUBMARINE ATTACK

On June 22, 1917, German submarines attacked the United States transports bearing the first contingents of the American Expeditionary forces to France.

The first sign of the presence of submarines was noticed by the lookout man high above on one of the big ships. He gave the alarm just as a gleaming line of bubbles announced that a torpedo was on its way. Then, in the words of an eye witness:

"Hell broke loose. Our helm was jammed over. Firing every gun available, we swung into a wild circle out of line to the left. A smaller ship slipped into our place, and from that the lookout told me I think one of our shells must have landed almost right above the submarine. But they are almost impossible to hit when they are submerged, and the periscope is no target anyway."

"They fired three, if not four, torpedoes. It was God's mercy that they all went astray among so many of our ships. We drove right at them (I suppose, the safest thing to do, as the bow gives the smallest mark to shoot at), and no doubt he did not care to wait for us. Or perhaps a lucky shot disposed of him. Anyhow, he disappeared and we saw no more of him."
